From the Pastor's Study

One of my favorite places to go during the Christmas season is Roots Country Market outside of Manheim. The closer to Christmas the better because the joyful frenzy of the market intensifies as December 25 grows nearer. Roots Market, pronounced "ruts" by the locals has numerous old wood framed buildings filled with vendors selling items of all kinds. The market is a feast for the senses; sight, sound, and smell. There are bakeries, meat markets, candy shops, Greek food, pretzel and chip vendors, toys, leather goods, furniture, and much more.

Food is often piled high, especially at Christmas, to emphasize the great wealth of food that is available. Last year a produce vendor piled broccoli three feet high in the shape of a Christmas tree. Stacks of meats and cheeses fill refrigerated display cases. The smell of caramel corn, oranges, apples, pears, coffee, pizza, baked soft pretzels, onions, meats, flowers, cookies, chocolate and homemade soaps scent the air.

The sounds and actions of the shoppers are especially joyful at this time of year. People are laughing, holding conversations in the aisles, hugging each other, sharing information about their purchases, telling their plans for the holidays. They converse with and smile at the vendors as they pass money over the counters. Babies are crying, children are giggling, parents are reprimanding. It is a joyous place in every sense. One cannot escape the abundance of good will and the wealth of wares to be had.

Outside the market buildings are more vendors. Some sell branches of holly and pine. Some are selling produce, apple cider, whoopee pies, Christmas trees, wreaths, articles of clothing, and gift items. If the weather is bitter cold the shoppers hurry to make their purchases so they can return to the warmth of the buildings. By 10:00 AM the market is at its peak and customers start heading for their cars to hustle their treasures home.

A farmer's market has always been a favorite place for me. I attribute my love for them to my grandmother taking me with her to the market where she sold produce, pies, noodles, and eggs. As a toddler I sat on the counter behind her and watched her interact with the customers and make sales. It was one of the few times she stopped doing physical work and spent time in conversation with people. Sweet memories of that time in my life have stayed with me for a lifetime.

Farmer's markets must hold a fond place in the hearts of many other people as well. The number of markets in the United States is growing every year. They are popular because people love the sense of community and oneness they feel when they come together once a week at a special time and place to talk and shop for their weekly sustenance. People like the idea of supporting local farmers, bakeries, and craftspeople. But more than anything they love the feeling of community they experience at a farmer's market. It is my belief that is why so many people love Black Friday. It is as much the fellowship they experience while shopping as the bargains they are looking for that day.

That same sense of community and fellowship is also experienced during the Christmas season. We come together as one in the pursuit gifts, and the pleasures of the season. We spend too much, we do too much; plan more activities in a few weeks than we should. We wallow in a sense of abundance, cast aside until next year our concerns about how we will pay for the excess we have incurred, we take chances with showing our true feelings for one another, and relish the warmth we only experience this special time of year. A popular Christmas song expresses in its words, "I wish it could be Christmas every day." And we ponder the question. Why it is not possible to feel like Christmas all year through? It is possible if we keep Christ in our hearts and in our minds every moment of every day. For it is he who is responsible for all the joy we feel at this time of year. It is his birth that has given us hope, the source of joy.

Christmas Blessings, Pastor Michael

*Fear not: for behold I bring you tidings of great joy which shall be to all people.
For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior which is Christ the Lord.-Luke 2: 10-11*

Mercersburg Academy Candlelight Service

If you have never experienced the magnificent candlelight service at the Mercersburg Academy in Mercersburg I greatly encourage you to do so this year. The service is held in the Mercersburg church which itself is a magnificent piece of architecture; a gothic building built in the 1920's to honor the alumni of the school who lost their lives during WW I. The church is lit with hundreds of real candles and decorated with numerous live Christmas trees and pine boughs. The services are on December 10 at 4:30 and 7:30. I encourage you to arrive as much as one hour before the service because of its popularity. People come from all over to attend this beautiful and meaningful service.

Abram Cromer Fund

Pastor Michael's nephew, Abram Cromer, has been recovering from a very serious accident that happened this past summer.

Consistory recently voted, by email, to approve inviting the congregation to make a donation to help support his young family.

All donations are payable to the church,
with notation: Abram Cromer Fund.

Deadline is December 17, 2017 to be mailed to him before Christmas.

Glove and Mitten Tree

We will again collect gloves and mittens of all sizes for those in need in our community. The Mitten Tree will again be standing in the narthex for you to attach your donations. In previous years we have collected close to 100 pairs of gloves and mittens as well as scarves and knit hats. Many of us assume that everyone has the winter wear they need because we have never been without those basic necessities but that is not true for those living on the edge of society.

50th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

The former St. Paul - Harbaugh Charge of the UCC officially became The Church of the Apostles, UCC at a Uniting Service held at Trinity, UCC, Waynesboro on March 26, 1967.

The Legal Committee is shown in the following photo. Our celebration will continue with monthly newsletter photos of the Finance and Building Committees as well as progress photos leading up to the Building Dedication in 1969.

A 50th Anniversary committee will be formed to plan a Service of Celebration to commemorate the Building Dedication in 2019.

Virginia Bruneste was born in her grandparents home on Old Pen Mar Road in Maryland in October 1923, and Pen Mar would ever after be an important part of her life. When she was just 11, she got her first job-renting field glasses on the overlook at Pen Mar Park. From there she went on to work at the photography studio within the park. When the park closed permanently after the 1942 season, many of the smaller hotels were turned into boarding houses for the wives of soldiers stationed at what was then Camp Ritchie, as there was no housing on the base for families.

Virginia's mother owned one of these boarding houses, and it was there that Virginia met Bernard Bruneste, a young Army Air Corps officer who came with a friend who was visiting his wife. When Bernie was transferred in August 1943, he and Virginia eloped (a marriage that lasted 50 years until his death in 1993). After spending the war years stationed at various bases in the U.S., they returned to Pen Mar to make their home. Following the birth of their children, a daughter and son, they purchased the very old Pen Mar Hotel where they first met, and it was there that they raised their family.

While raising her children, Virginia volunteered her time at various local organizations. She was a Sunday School teacher for 25 years, sang in the choir and played the piano at church services for 25 years. She was a Brownie & Girl Scout Leader, a school volunteer and PTA officer. She also worked as a substitute at the Pen Mar Post Office.

Her husband, Bernie, wrote a petition that eventually resulted in the establishment of Pen Mar County Park where Virginia volunteered and started an annual picnic for former employees of the old Pen Mar Park. This summer marked the 40th anniversary of that picnic. (Continued on

When Virginia was in her fifties, she took up oil painting. Many of her paintings grace the homes of her family and friends. Her painting of the Pen Mar Carousel won a ribbon in the Historical Category and was voted favorite painting at a Waynesboro Art Show. At the urging of collectors of Pen Mar Park postcards, she had a postcard made of her Carousel painting because there was no postcard of the carousel at that time. She likes participating in arts & craft activities at the community, and likes to sit and watch the sites, as there is never a dull moment at Elmcroft!

This is the postcard that was made of Virginia's Carousel Painting. The carousel was in use in Pen Mar park in Maryland from 1907-1942. Virginia painted this picture in 1981. The postcard was published by Ziegler Photography Studio in Waynesboro, PA.

Pastor Michael,

Thank you again for opening the Church of the Apostles to Michael and I as we celebrate our union before God. As we shared with you in our first email, it was important to both of us to share our vows in a church setting, officiated by a pastor. We are so appreciative of your kindness and willingness to marry Michael and I and share our first moments as husband and wife.

Bless you!
